3. BOARD ITEMS

The Board adopted the 2022 Central Valley Flood Protection Plan Update (Plan) through Resolution of Adoption 2022-29 (Resolution) on December 16, 2022. Through adoption of the Resolution, the Board identified known and achievable goals that will contribute to the goals of the Plan. At the Board's June 9, 2023, workshop, staff proposed five themes to categorize the Board's Resolution goals. The five themes are Implementation, Climate Resilience, Funding, Operations, and Strategic Planning. The February 2024 Workshop theme is Funding, which includes nine Resolution goals. The February Workshop is focused on communicating the importance of funding the actions called for in the Plan from various sources, and obtaining State, federal, and local perspectives on funding challenges and opportunities, as well as the importance of productive partnerships within and between State, federal, and local interested parties (Chris Lief, Board Executive Officer).

A. Presentation by the United States Army Corps of Engineers (USACE). This presentation will cover at a high level the new policies and guidance that influence the agency's approach to flood risk reduction projects and activities, various funding pathways for such activities, and a discussion on how State and local entities can more effectively engage with USACE for partnership and funding.

Speaker: Colonel Chad Caldwell, District Commander, USACE Sacramento District

B. Presentation by the California Governor's Office of Emergency Services (Cal OES). This presentation will cover Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) funding pathways for flood hazard mitigation administered through Cal OES, the value of hazard mitigation planning, and effective partnership between and among various parties interested in flood risk reduction.

Speaker: Robyn Fennig, Division Chief, Hazard Mitigation Planning Division, Cal OES

C. Presentation by the California Central Valley Flood Control Association CCFVCA).

This presentation will describe the local perspective on challenges and successes for funding flood risk reduction activities and the importance of regional coordination while exploring the need for State and federal support in navigating funding opportunities and making climate change data actionable at the local level.

Speaker: Scott Shapiro, CCFVCA Counsel

D. Presentation by the Department of Water Resources (DWR). This presentation will provide an overview of the 2022 Central Valley Flood Protection Plan Update (CVFPP) Investment Strategy, examining its role in securing funding and implementing projects, underscoring the importance of partnerships, and highlighting the benefits of taking proactive actions to reduce flood risk in the Central Valley.

Speaker: Christopher L. Williams, P.E., Flood Planning Branch Manager, Division of Flood Management, DWR
